He barely had time to get back to bed before falling into a heavy sleep. But they didn't devote the whole night to music. He couldn't help it. The door of Scrooge's counting house was open, so he could keep his eyes on his clerk, who, in a little shady cell there, a kind of tank, was copying You know he's, Robert! No one knows that better than you, poor poor little "My dear" was Bob's soft answer, "Christmas Day". "I'm going to drink your health for you and for the day," said Mrs. Cratchit, "No for him." Before you approach the stone that you point out, answer me a question. "It is your uncle Scro-Oge!" What was certainly. They were not a beautiful fummy; They were not well dressed; His shoes were far from being proof of water; His clothes were scarce; And Peter could know, and most likely did so, the interior of a pledge. No Bob. It was a big surprise for Scrooge, while this scene disappeared, hearing a healthy laugh. "Your master at home, my dear?" Said Scrooge to the girl. No, not even he believed that right now. But I made the trial in honor of Christmas and I will keep my Christmas mood at the last. I know that, but I don't know how. And when the old she said, "when you drink the health of a man who is not hateful, petty, hard, unkind like Mr. Scrooge. Don't be sad!" Bob was very cheerful with them, and spoke pleasantly with the whole family. The color? A little more permitted for me. Don't be flowery, Jacob! Pray!" "I'm here at night to let you know that you still don't have a chance and hope to escape my fate. "Dick Wilkins, for sure!" Scrooge told the Phantom. Huddled together in the ground to form a throne spp, were turkeys, geese, chestnuts, large joints, meat µ, sucking pigs, long sausage crowns, pies, plum puddings, oyster barrels, red chestnuts, cherry cheeks, juicy oranges, delicious pears, immense duod and large punch bowls.

Because the way he went after that fat sister in the lace way was an outrage. Credulity of human nature. He didn't leave it to me. It was the best he had, and a good one too. Yesterday In the evening, I went through the compulsion and learned a reading that is working now. Poor Tiny Tim! "They are better now again. Tell me which man was that, with his face covered, who did we see lying dead?" The Holy Ghost of Christmas Yet To Come transmitted it to a miserly and ruinous churchyard. If you had nothing against him, as some of them did, and were left there, he would have made an effort to try and grab him, which would have been an answer to affront his understanding, and would have instantly turned away in the direction of the fat sister. Scrooge was not a man who was frightened by echoes. "My old comrade of princes, bless me, yes. Ghost of Marley was dead, to eat. He sends a giant Christmas turkey to the Cratchit house and attends Fred's party, much to the suffocated surprise of the other guests. Noting that the hand was pointed at them, Scrooge went to hear his speech. "I don't think so, I'm afraid not. It was the first of his processes that had no enthusiasm. Bless these women! they never do anything in half. Scrooge and the Phantom passed, instead, directly to Scrooge's office; And at the threshold of the door, the Spartan smiled, and stopped to abide the dwelling of Bob Cratchit with the sprinklers of his torch. These held the hot material of the jar, however, as well as the golden blows it would have made; And Bob Cratchit with the sprinklers of his torch. served it with radiant parallels, as the chestnuts in the fire gushed and snapped loudly. Scrooge watches the large and busy Cratchit family prepare a miniature party in their slim home. Am I that man who lay in bed? Open this package, old Joe, and tell me his value. But the strangest thing about him was, that out of the crown of his head came a bright light jet, by which all this was vile; and that it was, without any doubt, the opportunity to use, in its most embittered moments, a great extinguisher for a chap© u, which now held under the work. "Color hurts my eyes," she said. He had just enough memories of his face to wish to do that. Never." "What, then?" of an altered nature; in an spider doesn't come out in life, you're doomed to do it after death. I will do it. and i'll release you. There he is. Once upon a time, on every good day of the year, on a Christmas Eve, the old Scrooge sat busy in his counting house. Suppose that someone ©m should have crossed the backyard wall, and stolen, while they were happy with the goose, â an assumption in which the two young Cratchits became angry! All sorts of horrors were supposed to happen. Somehow he gets thoughtful, sitting alone so much, and thinks the strangest things you haven't heard. "A little quest," said the SpH, "to make these silly people not full of gratitude.

Why show me this if I'm past all hope? They were a somber set of rooms, in a pile of buildings lowering a backyard. "Well, I'm very happy to hear that," Scrooge's nephew said, "because I don't have great faith in these young governesses. He always did! Who's the worst for the loss of some things like this? A smell like a eating house and a pastry shop next to each other with a washing machine next to it! It was the pudding! In half a block of inflamed brandy, and bedridden with a Christmas hole stuck on top. They are always silent. And being, by the fear he had suffered, or by the fatigues of the hour, much needing rest, he went straight to bed, without undressing, and slept in the instant. Didn't you have many brothers, Spaniard?" "More than eight hundred." "A tremendous

A mild summer's corner makes them cheat. Scrooge sat with the door wide open, to see him enter the tank. Come on, SpH!" They hardly seemed to enter the city; to the city, it instead seemed to arise over them. They left this busy scene and went to an obscure part of the city, to a low store where iron, old rags, bottles, bones and fatty offal were bought. Scrooge growled, in his accustomed voice, as close as he could pretend.
Did Scrooge know he was dead? "Let me hear another sound from you," Scrooge said, "and you will not keep your Christmas, losing your position! You are not a very powerful speaker, sir", he added, turning to his nephew. Scrooge finds the jovial meeting delicious and pleads with the spurit to stay until the end of the festivities. It was sufficiently clear from the dress of the shops that here, too, it was Christmas time. When they had all retired, but the two "apprentices", they did the same with them; and so the cheerful voices died, and the boys were left for their beds that were under a balcony in the train shop. I would like to be able to say a word or two to my staff right now. A chance and hope of my acquisition, Ebenezer." "You weren't always a good friend to me. And therefore, uncle, though I have never put a piece of gold or silver in my pocket, I believe that it has done me good, and I will do me good; and i say: God bless you!" "He walked to the Trown; And with every step he took, the window rose a little, so that when the appearance arrived, it was wide open. Scrooge had a very small fire, but the fire of employee was much smaller than it seemed like a car. He does. He desperately begs the Spam to alter his destiny, promising to renounce his insensible and advanced paths and honor the Christmas of all the heart. Scrooge and Phantom entered this man's presence, as well as a woman with a faded heavy package in the store. The two young cathits laughed tremendously from Peter's ID was a man of business; and the

"It matters little," she said softly to Scrooge's old self. And travel all the time? It was all the same for him. Is it true that he deserves this praise so much?" "Not that," said Scrooge, warmed by the observation, and speaking unconsciously as his first, not his last, self, - "Not that, SpUrit. The happiness he gave will be as great as it would cost a fortune." He felt the gaze of the Spartum, and stopped. So many, like the Cratchits, when she

A woman who leaves Scrooge because her desire for money eclipses her ability to love another. He became a not-so-good friend, a good master and a not-so-good man as the good old city knew, or any other good city, city, or city or Borough in the Good Old World. Finally dinner was ready, the cloth was cleaned, the fire invented. It was already very dark. In all new questions asked him, this nephew burst into a new roar of laughter; and he was so inexpressively pleased, that he was obliged to rise from the sanctuary and the seal. I know he's dead. "When did he die?" asked another. "Humanity was my business." He also believed me! More shame on him, Fred! ", Said Scrooge's niece, indignant. When he came near him, Scrooge leaned over his knee; For in the air through which this spurit moved, it seemed to spread the shield and the mist. My little child! My little son! "He broke everything at once. In all came one 3 the other; Some timidly, others awkwardly, others pulling; In all of them came, anyway and anyway. Slowly too ©m, trimming the candle as it went.
But don't be difficult for me. He was successful for a pause without fear, like you. Cratchit, looking slowly along the sculpture knife, prepared to dip it in the chest; But when she did, and when the exaggerated and expected filling was emitted, a murm of pleasure appeared all over the board, and even Tiny Tim, excited by the two young crathits, hit the table with the breath of his knife, and wept weakly, Hurra! There was never a goose. "There's no more work tonight. Yes, and the bed was his. Oh But he was a clenched fist in the sharpening stone, it was Scrooge! A squeezing, grabbing, scraping, grabbing, old and covetous sinner! The external heat and the cold had little influence on it.
Martha, who was a poor Milliner apprentice, later told them what kind of work she had to do, and how many hours she worked on a stretch, and how she intended to lie tomorrow morning for a good rest; Tomorrow being a holiday, she spent at home. He died seven years ago, on the same night. "" This festive season of the year, Mr. Scrooge ", said the gentleman, taking a pen," It is more than usually desirable that we should make a slight provision for the poor and distitute, who suffer much at the moment. He spent only a few pounds of his mortal money, maybe three or four. They shone in every part of the pain. I'm not going to delete the µ that they teach. Bob was full of eighteen and a half minutes of his time. "Hurray! There's a goose, Martha!" "Why, bless your living heart, my dear, how late you are not!" Said the lady. Cratchit, kissing her a dozen times, and taking out the shawl and the cap for her. Bob held the small hand on him, as if he loved the child, and wished to keep him by his side, and feared that he would be taken from him

The night is decreasing quickly, and it is precious time for me, I know." Sunday! You were today, then, Robert? "Yes, my dear," Bob returned. He looked at work on the table and praised Mrs. Cratchit and the girls. The previous Christmas of previous Christmas of previous years of Curmudgeon. Joe Miller has never made a joke that send him to Bob's will be! But write it, somehow, and went down the stairs to open the street door, ready for the coming of the man from Poulterer. This makes them weak by the light of the candles; And I would not show weak eyes to your father when he gets home, to the world. Scrooge looked like the ghost and saw no more. Oppressed with joy with the chance to redeem himself and grateful to have been returned to Christmas pict, as he saw them with the ghost of the Christmas gift;
And walking with his minds, Scrooge considered each one with a smile enchanted. No knowing that no regrets of regret can make the opportunities for a poorly used life! However, I was like this man; I already went lit

Uncle Scrooge had imperceptibly become so gay and light of heart, that he would have drank to the unconscious company in an inaudible speech. A pale light, rising in the outer air, fell straight upon this bed; and on it, unwatched, unwept, uncared for, was the body of this plundered unknown man. "Company, perhaps. They were portly gentlemen, pleasant to behold, and now stood, with their hats off, in Scrooge's office. He looked about in that very place for his own image; but another man stood in his accustomed corner, and though the clock pointed to his usual time of day for being there, he saw no likeness of himself among the multitudes that poured in through the Porch. "Sit ye down before the fire, my dear, and have a warm, Lord bless ye!" "No, no! There's father coming," cried the two young Cratchits, who were everywhere at once. "Men's courses will foreshadow
